

A Safe School is a Flexible One.

- ✓ Be prepared for numerous possibilities
- ✓ Ensure quality education during a pandemic
- ✓ Become a hybrid school pro
- ✓ Learn from experts

How can principals, teachers, substitutes, and teaching assistants be prepared for the constantly changing school environment in the time of COVID?

If we can learn anything from what's happening in the world these days, it's that flexibility is key. It's the same with our schools: A safe school is a flexible one.

But, the thing about flexibility is it opens up hundreds of possibilities for the 2020-2021 school year. Just thinking about it is overwhelming... and that's before you even get started!

Introducing Flexible Schools.

Flexible Schools is a collection of online learning and resources so principals, teachers, substitutes, and teaching assistants can be better prepared for the changing education reality in their communities. From planning a safe environment to developing a hybrid curriculum to even procuring face masks, Flexible Schools is here to help you.

Be Flexible. Stay Safe.

Our students deserve a safe environment and a thriving education, no matter if schools are online, face-to-face, or a hybrid of both. With Flexible Schools, educators get the preparation needed to advance continuity of learning during the COVID-19 pandemic and beyond.

Gain more control through tools and resources that help your school leadership be prepared for teaching online, in the classroom or a hybrid environment.

Prepare education staff through online, self-paced programs on hybrid teaching for teachers, substitutes, and teaching assistants.

Smooth transitions between different learning options thanks to online training and resources.
